AN ALLIANCE - TO GET FIGHTING FIT!

New borough-wide scheme aims to tackle problems of obesity

By Lucy Purdy

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

AN ALLIANCE to combat the rise of obesity in Haringey has been launched after it was revealed that more than half of the borough's adults are now overweight or obese.

The new partnership - the Haringey Obesity Alliance - includes Haringey Council, the Tottenham Hotspur Foundation, NHS representatives and Homes for Haringey, as well as schools. One in three ten and 11-year-olds is also overweight or obese.

The alliance will encourage people to eat healthily, be more active and help create an environment where "the healthiest choice is the easiest choice". The council has resolved to work with Homes for Haringey to review all "no ball games" signs in the borough and remove them "where they are impeding children's play".

Later this summer, the Tottenham

Hotspur Foundation will launch Shape Up With Spurs, a ten-week sport and weight management programme to help people in the east of the borough.

Peter Morton, Haringey Council's cabinet member for health and well-being and chairman of the new alliance, said: "We know that the obesity problem in Haringey cannot be solved by any one agency or organisation acting alone.

"Instead it demands close cooperation between partners in health, education, local government, business, the voluntary sector and the wider community.

"We will be looking at no ball games signs across the borough because we want to make it easier for children to play outside where it's safe to do so.

"There are some where residents will feel the signs are needed, but some may not be and we want to encourage children to play and be active where they can be."

It's a hit: Haringey schoolchildren taking part in the Sport Inspired games, which gave more than 400 youngsters an opportunity to try a new sport last month

Grant Cornwell, chief executive of the Tottenham Hotspur Foundation, said the organisation is committed to using the football club's "unique appeal" and the example of its players to encourage healthier lifestyles. Members of the Haringey Obesity Alliance hosted a conference on the problem at Tottenham University Technical College last Thursday.

Police investigate 'substance' attack

POLICE were called to South Tottenham station last week after reports of people having acid thrown over them on a London Overground train.

Two people were taken to hospital after officers from British Transport Police were called just before 8pm on Wednesday. A passenger posted on Twitter that acid had been involved. Police say the substance has not been identified yet.

A spokesman said: "We were called to the station at 7.57pm to a report of a member of staff and a passenger having had a substance thrown over them while on a London Overground train. This did not result in any serious injuries although both the male staff member and the female passenger were taken to hospital as a precautionary measure and have since been released."

Anyone with information should contact BTP on 0800 40 50 40, quoting reference 566 of 24/06/155.

Fire destroys roof

A FIRE destroyed the roof of a four-storey house in Highgate on Monday evening, ripping through the top two storeys as well.

Ten fire engines and 72 firefighters were called to the blaze at the property in Wood Lane just before 11pm.

Station manager Clive Robinson said: "Four people left the affected house and one person also left a neighbouring property before the brigade arrived. Thankfully, no one was injured."

Firefighters from Hornsey, Holloway, Kentish Town, Finchley, Paddington, Islington, Hendon and West Hampstead fire stations brought under control by 4.46 the next morning.

Festival offers some food for thought

URBAN beekeeping, mixology and the art of matching craft beer with food are among the activities on the menu at the Alexandra Palace Foodies Festival this weekend.

Tastebud-tempting street food based on recipes from all over the world and "chocolate sniffing" workshops will also be on offer when Ally Pally's grounds are transformed for the festival from Friday to Sunday.

Celebrity chefs including Aldo Zilli and last year's MasterChef winner Ping Coombes will take to the stage in a Chefs' Theatre, where they will cook up summer recipes and encourage home cooks to experiment with new flavours and ingredients.

Visitors heading down the Street Food Avenue will be able to sit at communal tables and tuck into dishes from Japan, Thailand, Brazil, Argentina, India, Mexico and Africa - and more than 200 exhibitors in the Artisan Producers' Market will be selling cheese, wine and baked goods.

For those brave enough, a chilli eating competition will challenge those who like it spicy to try and break the current record of 14 varieties of chillies eaten.

Festival founder Sue Hitchen said: "If you haven't been to a Foodies Festival before, you can look forward to a great day out with family and friends with lots of culinary activities to try and street food and produce from all over the world."

'No quick fixes and no magic wands,' admits transport boss

By James Cracknell

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

SLIDING doors that wouldn't slide as well as they should have done.

This was the reason for weeks of delays and cancellations on trains to and from Enfield Town railway station following Transport for London's takeover of the line – according to the man in charge.

In an interview with the Advertiser, Jonathan Fox, TfL's director of London rail, apologised to passengers for the disruption and admitted he did not possess "a magic wand" to make it all better straightaway.

Mr Fox was discussing the problems encountered since the line, formerly run by Abellio Greater Anglia, was transferred to TfL and integrated into the London Overground network.

"The main issue is with the reliability of the rolling stock," he said. "The trains are 30 years old."

When the move to TfL was made on May 31, six trains left idle for two years were brought back into service to help increase frequency on Sundays and provide additional carriages in reserve.

"We needed greater reliability," he said. "We took on these extra six trains on the basis they would be overhauled before we took them over."

"These trains had been at the Eastleigh depot in Hampshire for a couple of years. They were put through an examination regime and we did some work to make sure they were fit for purpose."

"We started two months in advance and had them running overnight. We thought sufficient work had been done on the doors."

"What we probably ought to have done was have the doors on a regular cycle. Because they are sliding doors, they have to fit into the slot and align."

"We have to put our hands up and say it hasn't been OK."

After several weeks of issues that often forced TfL to reduce the length of trains from eight to four carriages, reliability improved again from the middle of June.

Services along the lines from Liverpool Street to Enfield Town, Cheshunt and Chingford have all been affected.

But Mr Fox says the worst should be over and gradual improvements will now be noticeable.

"We have put together a rectification plan," he said. "We haven't stood still, we have extra people riding trains to make sure they're OK and we have door adjustment work going on at weekends."

"Recently, we have had a 100 per cent good service, but we are genuinely sorry the first few weeks didn't go as planned."

It was worse than we envisaged. We have had to swing into action."

Looking ahead, there will be new walk-through, air-conditioned trains introduced on the line from 2018 – similar to those already in use on other parts of the London Overground network.

Other work will be undertaken before then to improve each train station along the route. However, increasing service frequency will be more difficult.

Mr Fox added: "Hopefully, people are seeing that the station is looking better. Enfield Town has been painted up a bit and it is in better nick than it was before. People really appreciate that."

"Capacity to Liverpool Street is limited. To run the additional services we would like to run, we are considering running additional trains from Enfield Town to Seven Sisters. But we won't do that until the service has settled down."

"We increased the Sunday service from two to four trains per hour. But until the Liverpool Street capacity is dealt with, it might not be technically possible to do more than that."

London Overground has become one of the UK's top performing rail services since it started in 2007, with high reliability and passenger satisfaction. But Mr Fox said improvement is gradual, admitting: "We don't have a magic wand. You will see improvements at stations, you will see new benches and shelters and staffing. And it will be 2018 when you get the new trains."

Three charged over town centre fracas

THREE young men will stand trial after being charged with possessing offensive weapons at Palace Gardens Shopping Centre, Enfield, last week.

Two of the three, aged 20 and 21, are also accused of affray. The third, aged 19, faces the single charge of possessing an offensive weapon.

It follows an incident on Tuesday.

All three men were sent for trial at Wood Green Crown Court on July 9 when they appeared at Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on Thursday.

In addition, a 22-year-old man arrested on suspicion of conspiracy to commit GBH has been bailed until mid-July and a 15-year-old boy arrested on suspicion of affray has

In the saddle: Andrew Hughes and Peter Nicholas, from Winchmore Hill, are cycling from London to Paris this weekend to raise money for the charity Scope

By James Cracknell

news.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

AN estate agent isn't just going the extra mile for his brother – he's cycling 280 of them.

Father-of-two Peter Nicholas, 48, of Holly Hill, Winchmore Hill, is aiming to raise thousands of pounds by cycling from London to Paris in 24 hours on Saturday.

He will be joined by friend and fellow Winchmore Hill resident Andrew Hughes.

The duo are raising money for Scope, a charity which has helped Mr Nicholas's brother cope with cerebral palsy.

He told the Advertiser: "I thought I needed to challenge myself and show I was prepared to go out of my comfort zone."

"I have run a few marathons for Scope, but I

Cycling duo set sights on Paris for charity fundraiser

only took up cycling a few years ago. We have been training for eight months, riding up to 240 miles every week.

"We have done that sort of distance over a few days, but never within 24 hours."

"The ride to Paris will have lots of checkpoints to take a rest, but if your ferry is late across the Channel you have to make up the time in France.

"We have to be in Paris by 1pm the next day. Last year, because of the adverse weather conditions, only eight out of 287 riders finished the race."

The former Edmonton County School pupil's brother Nicky Nicholas, 64, has never been able to speak and is now confined to a wheelchair.

He is cared for at a home in Brixton, in south London, and has received help from Scope.

Mr Nicholas and Mr Hughes have raised nearly £2,500 so far and are still receiving donations via <http://uk.virginmoneygiving.com/PeterNicholas1>

Gardening group just the tonic for hospital patients

STROKE patients at Chase Farm Hospital have been growing and selling vegetables in a group designed to harness the benefits of horticultural therapy.

Lettuce, tomatoes and radishes are among the vegetables produced by the therapy gardening group, which meets every week.

The project is funded by donations from staff, patients and relatives as well as money raised from selling the vegetables.

Those behind the scheme say horticultural therapy helps build strength and stamina, relaxes muscles, improves balance and movement, burns calories and promotes a sense of well-being.

This can be vital during long hospital stays and ongoing therapy, they say.

Michel Varela, occupational therapy team lead at Chase Farm, in The Ridgeway, Enfield, said: "As well as helping stroke patients recover, the gardening group has also been educational."

"Learning about different vegetables and their nutritional value has helped some patients adopt a healthier diet, which can reduce the risk of strokes in the future."

Vegetables can be bought by members of the public as well as staff and visitors, so people interested in buying fresh and locally grown produce, as well as supporting the group, should contact Michel at michel.varela-morales@nhs.net

Increased security for military parade

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

SECURITY was stepped up as serving troops, ex-servicemen and women and cadets from the armed services marched through Enfield on Sunday.

The annual Armed Forces Day parade was one of 150 events held across the country to honour the sacrifices and dedication of the military.

"There was an increased police presence this year in light of the terrorist outrage in Tunisia and reports that a march in south London was the target of a bomb plot," said chairman of the Enfield branch of the Royal British Legion Brendan Farrell.

"Police had carried out security sweeps before the parade and we were warned to be vigilant, but it didn't spoil the occasion and everything went smoothly, despite a downpour," he added.

The parade marched from Chase Side Primary School, in Trinity Street, Enfield, past the Enfield war memorial, through Enfield Town to the civic centre, in Silver Street, where the Armed Forces Flag was raised and the salute taken by the Queen's representative, the Deputy Lord Lieutenant of Enfield, Mike Duggan, and the mayor of Enfield Patricia Ekechi.

Congratulations: Able Sea Cadet Maisie Davis receives an award from Deputy Lord Lieutenant of Enfield Mike Duggan, the Queen's representative

Campaigners vow to fight on as developers claim 'silent majority'

By James Cracknell

news.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

DEVELOPERS claim a "silent majority" of residents support an 18th-century pub building becoming a supermarket.

Green Lanes Investments conducted a survey of 1,500 homes and businesses and say that 77 per cent of firms and 73 per cent of residents support plans to open a Waitrose at the former Green Dragon pub, in Winchmore Hill.

A petition calling for the building, in Green Lanes, on the corner with Vicars Moor Lane, to be preserved as a pub has been signed by more than 4,500 people.

A bid by residents to list the building as an asset of community value was rejected by Enfield Council in April.

GLI bought the Green Dragon shortly after it was closed in January. The company has now released images showing how the building could be converted into a supermarket and extended to provide nine new homes.

The developer argues such a scheme will "greatly benefit the local community by providing more jobs, more choice and bring new investment".

Pub regular Mick McLean is leading the campaign to preserve the watering hole and says he is still hopeful a second bid for ACV status will be successful.

"St Paul's Cathedral would make a lot of money as a casino," Mr McLean told the Advertiser. "But you need to look beyond that to see what it provides for the community."

"The council wants us to state how the Green Dragon would benefit people who don't use it as a pub, so we are making that case to them now."

"There is no need for a Waitrose when there is one one-and-a-half miles away."

In June, The Fox, in Palmers Green, became the first pub in the borough to win ACV status and Mr McLean thinks this will help the Green Dragon's case.

"It shows the council can look positively at these applications," he added.

The Green Dragon is currently being used as a discount shop, meaning no change-of-use permission would be needed by GLI to reopen it as a supermarket.

However, council approval will be needed to build new homes on the site.

A GLI spokesman said: "When we bought the vacant site, we knew there would be support for a little Waitrose, but the survey was even more emphatic than we hoped."

"A silent majority of residents clearly want a good shop and new family homes. What's more, local firms appreciate they will benefit from extra footfall and increased trade."

PARENTS are calling for safer road measures to be introduced on a “scary” route to school.

A petition has been launched demanding lower speed limits, wider pavements and a pedestrian crossing to be installed in Eversley Park Road, Winchmore Hill.

The road is used by many parents walking their children to Eversley Primary School, who complain that cars often speed along it and sometimes make it “impossible” to cross.

Pupils going to two other schools, in Worlds End Lane, Grange Park Primary and Highlands, also use the route.

Mum Karin Feldinger walks her six-year-old daughter Autumn along the road each day to Eversley school.

She told the Advertiser: “It is not a comfortable road to walk along. At the bottom of the hill the footpath is quite narrow and the buses come down there at quite a speed.

“We started a petition and we have spoken to some people at the council about it. There has been an accident on the road recently. It is quite scary.”

In May, a motorcyclist was injured in the road after colliding with a car. A group of parents had already begun discussing potential new safety measures when the accident occurred.

On their change.org petition, four improvements to Eversley Park Road are demanded – a pedestrian crossing, widening the pavement, Slow Down signs and consideration of a 20mph speed limit.

Enfield Southgate MP David Burrows has pledged his support for the measures to be introduced, as have some councillors.

Ms Feldinger added: “Our aim is to get 1,000 signatures on the petition before we formally submit it to the council.

“We think it is a question of when, not if, someone is seriously hurt on this road. Everyone knows it is not safe.”

The petition so far has just over 200 signatures. To sign it, visit <https://www.change.org/p/enfield-council-make-eversley-park-road-safer>

AS I downloaded the new charity single by the Mighty Men, I was struck by how lucky we are in Enfield to have such a dynamic array of passionate individuals determined to make society better for everyone.

The single, Keep Fighting, was recorded live at the Dugdale Centre, in Enfield Town, earlier this year and is the brainchild of the MOBO award-winning Queen of UK Gospel and Enfieldian Lurine Cato.

Frustrated at the constant stream of negative images of young men, Lurine decided to do something about it.

She brought together some of the best male singers to create a wall of positivity and to show that there is a better way for men to behave.

As I look around Enfield I marvel at other warriors like Nina Lewis providing opportunities for young people at Platinum Performing Arts at Millfield House, Stuart Owen bringing Edmonton's historic Church Street alive at the Lamb Festival, Dr June Keyte's passion for young people having access to classical music inspiring a three-week classical music festival across Enfield and Jo Collins at Chickenshed ensuring that theatre is made inclusive for all.

Enfield Council is supporting our latest young business led by Tulip Hambleton in her quest to bring sustainable wines to Enfield in the new bar Eco Vino Teatro at the Dugdale, encouraging us to think more deeply about what we consume.

As Shakespeare said in The Tempest: "How beauteous mankind is! O brave new world, That has such people in't!"

I was also shocked by instruction to dump gear

ON the subject of Geoffrey Yates' letter ("Shocked by wasteful NHS", Advertiser, June 3), I, too, was horrified when I came out of hospital two years ago with three items of equipment, to be told when they were no longer required to take them to the dump. In my view, they were all cleanable with sterile wipes, etc.

I contacted my MP David Burrowes and he took the matter up with the Secretary of State for Health, whose answer was that they were treated as prescription items and therefore could not be returned.

I managed to get my appliances passed on to someone who needed them (after I had wiped them thoroughly with sterile wipes), but I find it incredible that walking sticks, zimmer frames and things for increasing bed height in particular cannot be recycled.

In the old days of hospitals with sluice rooms and sterilisers, even bed pans were used by more than one patient.

Bert will be sadly missed

I WOULD like to pay my tribute to Bert Huggins, former editor of the Palmer's Green and Southgate Gazette, who died recently aged 100.

Bert gave me my first job in journalism in the early 1970s and we worked together on a daily basis writing his beloved sports pages.

Ten years later, after his 'retirement', I was able to repay the favour when, as editor of the Enfield Independent, I took on Bert as a freelance sub-editor.

He was a wonderful, charming man with a great sense of humour and a self-deprecating manner. Bert was justifiably known by local people as Mr Enfield and he will be greatly missed.

Station's doors
sub-standard

Dropping in: Boris Johnson at Enfield Town station

IT is pleasing to see the new improved station in Enfield Town and the promised improved services.

Unfortunately, the new front doors to the station are not fit for purpose.

Someone has to tell London Overground this is the 21st century and these doors are not very friendly if you have a physical disability or are in a wheelchair.

Even the Mayor of London must have noticed these doors on his foray to Enfield

So I ask residents to do as I have done and write to London Overground, Freeport Customer Services Team, 125 Finchley Road, London, NW3 6HY, or ring 0343 222 1234

Hopefully, together we can get the station dragged into the 21st century.

Our MPs must all speak up for imprisoned Raif

THE case of Raif Badawi is a universal one which I hope your readers, as citizens of the UK and of the world, will care about enough to lobby our MPs and our government.

He is a Saudi Arabian peaceful activist and blogger, who was first arrested on June 17, 2012, for the crimes of blasphemy and 'apostasy'.

He was eventually sentenced to a fine of £175,000, ten years' imprisonment and 1,000 lashes, due to be inflicted over 20 weeks with 50 lashes each week.

This was started in January this year, but then suspended. The sentence was reconfirmed recently and has caused another international outcry. His lawyer Waleed Abulkhair is also in jail for 15 years for helping him.

On Wednesday, June 17, Amnesty International, English Pen and several other groups organised the delivery of a petition at Downing Street calling on the government to press Saudi Arabia to release both men.

There was also a public meeting about the situation at Portcullis House at 6.30 the same evening. Other countries, including the USA, France and Sweden, have called on King Abdullah to rescind the punishment – but not the UK, as yet.

David Burrowes has already assured me he has spoken about this in parliament. I think all MPs need to speak louder and are more likely to do so if their constituents decide to make a fuss.

I hope that many of your readers will do so.

Time to stop wasting cash

I WAS just reading Doug Taylor's piece about the cuts he will have to make to council services (Advertiser, June 24).

It's always front-line service cuts that catch the eye. I have just looked at part of the council's phone directory and there are 94 services on just one page and it says there many more. What I and others would like to know before our rubbish goes to fortnightly collections is how much this council spends on all the sickies and gallivanting its members do all over the country and Europe – nice work if you can get it.

Just see how things are done elsewhere. I'm sure we have lots to learn from Devon and Cornwall and other places. What I really want to know is how on earth did we manage years ago without the stupid services this council supplies for the benefit of very few residents. These are the services that need to be abolished, not front-line services, which seem to be this Labour council's favourite things to stir it up.

Source: Enfield has a fly-tipping problem, says councillor Joanne Laban

New crackdown to remove fly-tipping

But Tory bid to review fee is voted down

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

POLITICIANS have joined forces in a bid to crack down on fly-tipping in the borough.

At a meeting of the council last week, Tory councillors demanded that the Labour administration made it easier for residents to get rid of their bulky waste to remove the temptation to fly-tip.

They also want the council to allow members of the public to use social media to report instances of fly-tipping.

They called on the administration to review the fee charged by the council to collect bulky waste, which currently stands at £56 for six items.

Joanne Laban, the Conservative group's spokeswoman on the environment, told the meeting at the civic centre, in Baker Street, Enfield, on Wednesday that cleaning up unsightly dumped furniture and white goods was about "making Enfield the best it can be."

"Enfield has a problem with fly-tipping," she said. "I have seen children playing in the dumped rubbish – how is that not a health and safety issue? We as councillors don't want to live in these areas where rubbish is continually being dumped. So why should our residents?"

She pinned the blame for fly-tipping on the expense and hassle of disposing legitimately of bulky waste.

"If you rip out your kitchen and it is more than six large sacks, don't expect to get rid of it at Barrowell Green [the council depot] in Winch-more Hill," she added. "Then, if you pay someone to get rid of it, you have no idea where they are taking it – if they have disposed of it officially or if they have taken it away and dumped it."

However, the cabinet chief for environment Daniel Anderson denied that the Labour administration had overseen an increase in the amount of waste dumped in the borough's streets.

He said: "The government stopped the public funding to Keep Britain Tidy, but we spend £3.4million a year in keeping Enfield clean."

"Eighty-four per cent of fly-tipping incidents are cleaned up before they are reported and we have invested £1m in modernising street cleansing services."

Responding to the accusation that the system makes it too difficult to report fly-tipping, Mr Anderson revealed that the council was looking into a geo-tagging system whereby people could use smart phones to let officials know where the rubbish was.

Although the recommendations put forward by the Tories were voted down, councillors agreed unanimously on a motion tabled by Mr Anderson to write a letter "jointly from the cabinet member for environment and his Conservative counterpart to Elizabeth Truss, Secretary of State for the Environment, calling on the government to heed the conclusions of the select committee report by creating a National Litter Strategy for England with a clear framework for action, underpinned with a coordinating role for local councils".

Street festival celebrates Myddleton Road revival

A CELEBRATION of a street's ongoing revival could not be dampened by a little rain on Sunday.

Myddleton Road, in Bowes Park, hosted a street festival alongside a food market to mark the "culmination" of work to boost the Edwardian thoroughfare.

A revamp of shop fronts was completed in June and is already helping to bring back trade.

Richard McKeever, who helps organise residents' group We Love Myddleton Road and is also the founder of community forum Bowes and Bounds Connected, told the Advertiser: "This is a much-loved but dilapidated Edwardian shopping street, but there are lots of people here who are looking out for the shops."

"The event on Sunday was the culmination of the community-led activity that has been going on for the last few years. As well as the regular food market we had face painting, games, crafts and a music stage."

"The market has been a huge success and has been named the best new community market in the UK."

A survey of people living in Bowes Park showed that although most continue to shop away from Myddleton Road, 80 per cent said it had "got better" over the past two years.

The street's "friendliness, sense of community and the fact that shops are independent businesses" have been cited as its main assets.

A FREE ASSESSMENT AND VALUATION DAY

You are invited to attend our assessment, valuation and purchase day, where TOP PRICES are agreed and offered.

Just bring along your chosen items; our valuer will give you a free appraisal and a current estimation of value. We will then discuss your best course of action and either make an offer of purchase or provide advice on your other options.

Antiques television programmes have made people more aware of the potential value of their belongings, however, the best method of realising the true cash value is not always made clear.

There are many items that are not so obviously valuable and this is where the professional valuer's expertise comes in.

There are times when the exposure of an auction is beneficial – let our experts help you to decide, but many items, where a known or intrinsic value can be simply assessed such as Gold, are just not suited for sale at auction.

Without advice, auctions can actually LOSE you money. After weeks of waiting, and assuming your item sells - commission charges, premiums and taxes reduce your likely share to only two thirds of the total transaction payment!

This is how we are able to offer you a high purchase figure as there's no premium for us and NO STOPPAGES for you, just an immediate cash settlement.

"We want to make history fun, get kids interested in our past and show them that our borough has a rich, varied and fascinating history just waiting to be explored in more depth."

Bush Hill Park mourns as gentleman Jim dies at 81

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A COMMUNITY stalwart who was a well-known figure throughout Bush Hill Park will be much missed by residents in the area, his daughter has said.

John James, who was better known as Jim, had lived in Trinity Avenue since 1975 and was a fixture in the Bush Hill Park area, with neighbours stopping to chat and pass the time of day when he was in his garden at the front of his home.

The 81-year-old, who had five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, died suddenly at home on June 18 following a heart attack.

His daughter, Louise James, told the Advertiser that since the death of her father the family had been inundated by condolences from neighbours.

"Everybody knew him," she said. "The bus driver would wave to him, the newsagents locally knew him well – we have even had a card through the door from the local barbers."

"And really I want to say thank you to everyone who gave him five minutes of their day when they would be passing by."

Jim moved to Enfield from Newcastle when he was 17 and settled in Trinity Avenue after meeting his wife.

"My mum died in 2008 and if neighbours hadn't seen him in a few days they would always call in on him to check that he was OK," Louise added.

As well as being a leading member of the Bush Hill Park residents' association and a leading light at Percival Social Club, he also ran the Enfield youth darts team.

Louise is keen to let anyone who knew her father that his funeral will be held on Friday at 3pm at the Enfield Crematorium, in Great Cambridge Road, and the wake will be at The Lincoln Arms, in Percival Road, Bush Hill Park.

Alleyway 'gating' plan to cut crime

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

A FURTHER £110,000 is to be spent blocking access to dozens of alleyways running behind households as part of a council scheme to reduce break-ins, fly-tipping, anti-social behaviour and drug use.

More than 70 alley-gating schemes in secluded parts of the borough have been earmarked to receive the cash.

Many of the alleys have become hotspots for fly-tipping and havens for anti-social behaviour, and also provide concealed access points to properties.

The latest tranche of money is in addition to the existing £100,000 budget for the year and feedback from residents in areas where the alley gates have been installed has been very positive, according to the council.

Since the project started more than 435 alleys have been gated off and residents for whom access to their properties is through the gates have been given entry keys.

Daniel Anderson, Enfield Council's cabinet member for environment, said: "This is a brilliant scheme that delivers excellent results and plays a huge role in reducing fly-tipping, anti-social behaviour and burglary.

"It is understandably popular with residents and we have taken the decision to expand the scheme this year to make residents feel safer, keep the borough cleaner and make it harder for people with mischief in mind to commit anti-social acts."

'Excellent results': Daniel Anderson, cabinet member for environment

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Richard Power feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and Richard is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Richard a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Anyone for tennis?: Youngsters practise at Enfield Lawn Tennis Club, in The Ridgeway, Enfield

Kids make a racket

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

ASPIRING Andy Murrays and Serena Williamses had a smashing time improving their tennis skills.

Dozens of youngsters completed a 12-week coaching course at Enfield Lawn Tennis Club, in The Ridgeway, Enfield.

It is one of several coaching schemes the club runs for junior members and non-members throughout the year, along with tennis camps during the summer holidays.

Wimbledon fortnight, which got under way on Monday, always boosts the sport's popularity, but club coach Neil Mansell is less optimistic about where the next British champion to follow in Andy Murray's footsteps will come from.

"There is undoubtedly undiscovered talent out there, but it's giving youngsters, particularly those from underprivileged backgrounds, the opportunity to play the game as well provide the funding if they are to reach the top level," he said..

"I work with several schools and some of the pupils have never heard of Wimbledon or picked up a racket. At the club we try and keep costs to a minimum so expert tuition and coaching is affordable, but most of all tennis is fun."

(Girls only pre-prep for Palmers Green High School for 3-4 year olds)

At the Alice Nursery we pride ourselves on offering a first-rate pre-prep experience, led by our Nursery Manager (a fully trained and experienced teacher) and her specialist Early Years Trained staff. Girls flourish in an atmosphere of calm excitement and purposeful engagement as they discover the world around them through a variety of carefully planned activities linked to a weekly theme. As soon as they are ready to begin to read they are encouraged to do so, being taught by fully-trained staff with a working knowledge of education beyond Nursery.

The girls have experienced a host of fun-filled trips and events that have kept them busy throughout this academic year. Annual highlights included the Nursery Nativity, Sports Day, trip to Willows Farm and Paradise Wildlife Park, and visits from Uncle Vic and his 'mini beasts' and Edmonton Fire Brigade.

Whilst the Alice Nursery is currently full there are some vacancies for the next academic year. Girls may join after their third birthday and families are welcome to visit during our regular Wednesday Open Mornings. However, please be aware that the colourful and welcoming environment of the nursery often means that prospective parents - and especially their daughters - often don't want to leave!

Wine bar 'will offer London alternative'

By James Cracknell

newsdesk@nlnews.co.uk

A WINE bar newly opened in Enfield will help make the town centre a "destination of choice" – according to council bosses.

The local authority wants to create a "thriving" night-time economy to rival central London and councillors are hoping the Eco Vino Teatro wine bar at the Dugdale Centre will help with this aim.

Described as the "perfect place to unwind" before theatre shows at the arts venue, in London Road, Eco Vino Teatro officially opened its doors for the first time on Thursday.

The centre is owned and managed by Enfield Council. Alan Sitkin, cabinet member for economic regeneration and business development, said: "We want to create an increasingly thriving night-time economy in our town centres and our new wine bar will provide a pleasant and vibrant atmosphere in which theatre-goers and visitors can spend an evening with friends.

"This is all part of our wider strategy to provide residents with alternative leisure venues to central London and make Enfield Town their destination of choice when they are deciding where to go for a night out."

Early start for Millfield's pantomime preparation

TEMPERATURES this week are expected to reach 32 degrees – and for Enfield Council it's the perfect time to promote this year's Christmas pantomime.

Millfield Theatre, in Silver Street, Edmonton, has already hired its cast for the panto Cinderella. More than 2,000 hopefuls auditioned.

In a press release issued two days after the summer solstice, Alan Sitkin, cabinet member for economic regeneration and business development, urged people to start planning their winter festivities.

"It just isn't Christmas without a trip to the Millfield pantomime," said Mr Sitkin.

"Cinderella is one of the all-time favourites, so start planning your family visit early so you can enjoy the festive thrills and spills contained in this fabulous show."

Cherub proves to be a good sport

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

IT may have gone unnoticed by all but the most observant of passers-by, but the little bronze statuette of a water cherub outside Enfield Civic Centre has taken to wearing a T-shirt.

The charming figurine became a tiny mannequin this week as it modelled the new kit to be worn by Enfield's team in the 2015 London Youth Games.

The figurine, cast by the company Morris Singer between 1927 and 1949, was found by council staff in the grounds of Oasis Academy Hadley, in Bell Lane, Enfield Highway, in 2013 and has since been relocated to the water feature outside the civic centre, in Baker Street, Enfield.

Also modelling the new strip for a special photo-shoot were Andrew Stafford, Enfield Council's cabinet member for finance and efficiency, James Rolfe, director of finance, resources and customer services, and Nneka Keazor, cabinet member for public health and sport.

Mr Stafford said: "Enfield Council wholeheartedly endorses fit and healthy lifestyles for all our residents, especially young people. Our little statue, emblazoned with the LYG kit, will be a talking point locally and will raise the profile of this important organisation."

Ms Keazor said: "Enfield Council is delighted to support the London Youth Games by showcasing their kit.

"We are tackling levels of childhood obesity by increasing levels of activity in our young people and by encouraging children and young people to get involved in a wide range of sports.

"By supporting the London Youth Games we hope more young people will want to become active," she added.

The fear factor

Fear factor: Alex Woolf reads Walker Primary School pupils a scary story

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

CHILDREN are being encouraged to let out their inner ghoul for a competition to find the spookiest storyteller.

In a special workshop last week, pupils at Walker Primary School were taught the tricks of the trade by author Alex Woolf, who gave top tips to years four, five and six on a sunny morning in Southgate.

Speaking to the Advertiser after working with the youngsters, Alex said that despite blue skies and fluffy white clouds, the children at the school, in Waterfall Road, were able to enter into the spirit of the activity.

"I told them to imagine that they weren't in a stuffy classroom," he said.

"I told them to imagine that they were standing in the park on a chilly evening with their coat and fog rising slowly around them."

The quest to find the top tale teller is part of the preparations for the Palmers Scream festival, a spooky spectacular currently planned for Halloween, and seems to tie in with the excitement over some strange and supernatural goings-on detailed on the newly popped-up Palmers Scream website.

"They love it – they love hearing that there might be dark, untold tales and history all around them," added Alex. "They love the idea that there might be legends and grisly stories. Stories about the legend of the hobgoblin that haunts Palmers Green really sparked their imagination."

A book with spooky stories has already been put together by local authors and creative minds in the borough are hoping that firing up young people's imaginations will help get residents in the mood to be scared.

The competition is open to children aged between eight and 12.

All entries should be typed and should be no longer than 1,000 words long. They can be emailed to palmersscream@gmail.com

Making the grade

A “GRADUATION” ceremony celebrating the achievements of Enfield’s schoolchildren has helped give the youngsters a taste of university life.

Four hundred pupils aged between seven and 14 from 16 schools across the borough donned purple gowns and mortarboards for the ceremony at Middlesex University, in Hendon, the fifth time it has hosted the event.

Handing out the certificates was former Lea Valley High School pupil and football freestyler Billy Wingrove, who has notched up 50 million hits on YouTube and broken three world records.

Gold, silver and bronze awards were presented to each pupil, depending on how many hours of extra-curricular activities they had completed throughout the year.

Middlesex University’s outreach manager Elita Eliades-Ahmed said: “It’s always thrilling to watch each youngster celebrate special moments with families and friends.

“The enthusiastic children have made a massive commitment to outside learning over the last year, with exciting events ranging from art and sports clubs at schools, to forensics clubs and even activities at London Zoo and crown courts across the capital.

“We hope they continue to explore the fun and learning that can be had outside school.”

Pupils have a wheely exciting lesson

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A GROUP of schoolchildren has been given the freedom only two wheels can provide after a pilot scheme taught beginners to take to the road on cycles.

Pupils at Merryhills Primary School, in Bincote Road, Enfield, learned to ride a bike after just two sessions with coaches from Transport for London.

With a focus on getting youngsters healthy and fit, teachers at Merryhills rolled out cycling as part of the school’s travel plan earlier this year by incorporating Bikeability sessions into the daily routine.

And Transport for London was so impressed with the success of the scheme that the school was chosen for a pilot of a new Bikeability plus project, with children who have never ridden a bike before learning over the course of just two hour-long sessions with instructors.

Year five and six phase leader and travel plan champion Nicole Gardiner said: “It was amazing, seeing their faces when they started to get the hang of it. They could not have been smiling more and their parents were really proud of them. They couldn’t believe they had learned to ride so quickly.”

The scheme is designed to make sure that as many children as possible benefit from cycling being incorporated into a school’s travel plan and aims to ensure no pupil is left behind with the Bikeability programmes.

Merryhills is hoping to keep working with TfL to help year one children learn to ride on cycles without pedals or stabilisers, encouraging youngsters to get used to the feeling of instability on a bike.

“It breaks my heart in a way when children say they don’t know how to ride a bike,” Ms Gardiner added. “Riding a bike is a skill they will take with them for the rest of their lives.

“They can ride bikes through the park, they can go on adventures and they will be able to teach their own children to ride.”

And the bike fun will not come to an end. Plans are afoot to start an after-school cycling club in the next academic year.

Weather-beaten stone 'is unreadable'

Calls to restore 112-year-old monument commemorating the opening of Broomfield Park

By James Cracknell

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A STONE commemorating the opening of an historic park more than century ago has become “unreadable”.

Park users have called on Enfield Council to restore the shell-shaped stone at the entrance to Broomfield Park, in Palmers Green, following complaints that the 112-year-old inscription had faded beyond legibility.

Martin Halle, who has contacted the council about the stone's condition, told the Advertiser: “The original entrance to the park is still there and just inside it is the stone commemorating the day the park opened.

“It has been allowed to weather away so you can't read the inscription on it anymore. It seems to have been neglected.

“This is an historic part of the park. It hasn't happened overnight, but something could have been done sooner to protect it.”

The stone lies adjacent to the derelict Broomfield House, which is grade II* listed.

The 17th-century house was severely damaged by fire in 1984 and has been boarded up ever since, with various fundraising appeals and grant applications to restore it so far proving unsuccessful. Tony Elliott, from the Friends of Broomfield Park group, said the issue of the stone's condition had been raised with the council before.

He said: “We had a walk around with council officers recently and this was one of the things we brought up.

“We are hoping to apply for green flag park status next year and this is something that should be renovated to help improve our chances.”

The 54-acre park, along with Broomfield House, was bought by the former Southgate Urban District Council in 1903 and formally opened to the public on April 25 that year.

It was the first park to be opened in the area.

A spokesman for Enfield Council said: “The parks service and the council's heritage and conservation officer are currently exploring conservation options for the Broomfield Park stone.

“There are a number of important considerations to be taken into account and we have started discussions with the Friends of Broomfield Park and the Enfield Society to find the best way of protecting and enhancing this historic monument.”

Festival aims to celebrate black women filmmakers

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE founder of a festival dedicated to showcasing the work of black filmmakers from around the world says it is the best way to attract attention.

Menelik Shabazz, founder of the Black Filmmakers International Film Festival, which will run in the Bernie Grants Arts Centre, in Town Hall Approach Road, Tottenham Green, from tomorrow until Sunday said: "The festival is the place where the black independent sector can get some attention through showcasing their films. Also, through our industry-led seminars and workshops, this sector can gain insider knowledge and opportunities within the industry."

This year the festival will focus on celebrating films which share the black female experience.

One of the films being screened is Dalian Adofo's As It Grows, which explores the experiences of four women who wear their hair naturally, without products or treatments.

The film was inspired by the vitriolic reaction to Viola Davis's appearance at the 2012 Academy Awards when she styled her hair without relaxing or straightening treatments. The film will be shown at 3.30pm on Sunday.

As well as exploring cultural norms around hair, beauty standards are considered from a pan-African viewpoint in Oluwatoyin Agbetu's Beauty Is.

The 2014 film looks at how cultural beauty standards and "norms" impact on black women across the world and will be shown at 1pm on Sunday.

Festival organisers have chosen to promote the talents of black women in the industry after figures revealed that in 2013 only two per cent of feature film directors were female, with minority women taking up an even a smaller percentage.

Among the directors being showcased are Mary Well, whose Kingston Paradise, is being screened on Friday, Ayoka Chen-zira, whose HERadventure is being shown on Saturday, and Yasmin Shiraz, whose Growing up Positive is showing on Sunday at 1.15pm.

The full programme can be viewed online at www.bfmmedia.com and tickets can be via the website. Prices start at £7.

From Genisys to Revelation

Terminator Genisys 12A 126 mins

ARNOLD Schwarzenegger is true to his word and returns as the mechanised killing machine in this reboot of the Terminator franchise, directed by Alan Taylor, which promises to tell the same origin story from a fresh perspective.

Released in 1984, James Cameron's groundbreaking sci-fi thriller The Terminator tapped into concerns about nuclear warfare to explore a dystopian future in which machines have rebelled against mankind and rendered our species almost obsolete.

Terminator Genisys follows a similarly bleak narrative trajectory. In the aftermath of judgment day, when machines rebelled against their human creators, the last vestiges of mankind face complete extinction at the hands of the automata.

Rebel leader John Connor (Jason Clarke) hopes to give humanity a fighting chance by sending his friend Kyle Reese (Jai Courtney) back in time to 1986 to protect his mother Sarah (Emilia Clarke) from a shape-shifting Terminator (Byung-hun Lee).

When Kyle finally catches up with Sarah, he discovers that he is in an altered timeline in which the Connor matriarch is a well-honed fighting machine, who already has protection: an ageing T-800 model Terminator (Schwarzenegger) that has become a father figure to Sarah in an uncertain and sometimes brutal world.

Kyle joins forces with Sarah and her hulking henchman to fend off attacks from the evil Terminator and bring down Skynet. However, the machines have learnt from their mistakes and have the perfect secret weapon to outwit Sarah and her wily bodyguard.

Amy 15 127 mins

With her distinctive beehive hairdo, thick eyeliner and deep, soulful vocal delivery, Amy Winehouse became an icon for a musical generation.

Her debut album Frank left critics and music fans in a daze but it was her follow-up, Back To Black, that rewrote the record books, earning Winehouse five Grammy awards including Record Of The Year and Song Of The Year, plus three Ivor Novello awards for her songwriting and a BRIT award as Best British Female.

At the height of this fame, Winehouse died from alcohol poisoning, aged 27.

Asif Kapadia's controversial documentary charts the life and times of the distinctive singer-songwriter, incorporating contributions from her friends and family, plus some of the people who worked with her and were touched by her fragility and genius.

The film details Winehouse's well-publicised battles with drug and alcohol addiction as well as her mental health issues, and pieces together events leading up to her death, posing difficult questions about the culpability of the media and some of her inner circle in her tragic downfall.

Anyone for Tennis?

Wimbledon is a highlight of the British sporting calendar but the Brits' love of tennis can also be a financial bonus for anyone living near a tennis club.

The prestigious event highlights the benefits of being in close proximity to excellent sporting facilities and the aftermath means that buyers will take extra note of properties that have tennis courts on their doorsteps.

Park life

Most tennis clubs, and indeed many sports clubs, are set in parks or grounds, which offer a leafy locale in a capital city – giving you the best of both worlds. The abundance of green space and sporting amenities is a fantastic selling point, as well as offering residents an improved quality of life. These green spaces will often be protected so the area won't become overdeveloped and saturated with new-build property.

Famous faces

While Winchmore Hill is situated the other side of the river and a good 20 miles from the village enclave of the All England Club, the atmosphere, excitement and feel-good factor of the world's best-known tournament certainly resonate here too. And, there's no shortage of excellent clubs in the area – indeed Hazelwood Sports Club helped the likes of Jeremy Bates and Jo Dury reach the peak of their game, when they trained at the prestigious academy at the club. With Vicars Moor and Bush Hill Park clubs and sports centres also gracing the locale, this part of London has a lot to offer fans of the sport.

From sporty couples and families looking for top-quality facilities that don't require a car journey, to ambitious players aiming for a spot on Centre Court, Winchmore Hill and the surrounding areas offer a great deal of choice when it comes to tennis and sports clubs. And, of course, any property close by can also hope to enjoy the equity increase that these valuable assets offer. The combination of green space and quality sports clubs can only be a bonus for homeowners and will feature highly on your property details, when the time comes to sell.

So, if you're thinking of making a move to North London, there are plenty of positives to pull you in the direction of N21. And even if you're not partial to a game, who doesn't like the pleasant sound of tennis balls popping in the distance on a warm Saturday afternoon with a glass of Pimm's in hand?

CHADLI BELIEVES HE WILL IMPROVE

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

NACER CHADLI is confident that he will be able to build on his encouraging campaign by making even more of an impact at Tottenham Hotspur.

The Belgian international attacking midfielder arrived at White Hart Lane in the summer of 2013 and struggled to make his mark during his 12 months at Spurs.

However, the 25-year-old was far more impressive in his second year at the club – scoring 13 goals in all competitions, including 11 in the Premier League.

Despite this, Chadli believes that he still has plenty of room for improvement and is confident that he will be able to do that in the coming campaign.

“I had some good games last year and it was a positive season for me, but I can still improve a lot and I know that,” he said. “I try to work every day on that and next season, I think you’ll see a better Nacer Chadli.

“I can improve in many ways. I think I can score more goals, make more assists and play better games than I did last season, even though that was a big improvement for me. I know what I can do and I want to show it.

“When everyone is playing at their best level then we can beat anyone. If we can score five goals against Chelsea, we can score five goals against any team.”

Meanwhile, summer signing Kevin Wimmer is excited by the prospect of playing for Tottenham next season.

The 22-year-old Austrian international joined the club from Bundesliga outfit

FC Koln earlier this month and is eager to start working with his new team-mates.

“I’ve looked at the squad,” he said. “There are a lot of young players, very good players, and this will help me in my personal development. I think I can get better and better and I’m really looking forward to joining the team.

“I know I will fit in well from the first training session and I’ll try to learn as much as I can from the other players. For me, it’s good that there are so many young players at the club – it will be easy to fit in.”

□ Harry Kane has expressed his disappointment after England bowed out of the European under-21 Championships at the group stages.

The Tottenham striker had dropped down from the senior squad to play in the tournament, but was unable to find the net in any of England’s three games – and a 3-1 defeat by Italy on Wednesday last week meant that they finished bottom of Group B.

“We’re gutted as a team that we haven’t got there,” he said. “There are little things over the course of the tournament that we could have done better and I don’t think we ever reached the top of our form which we showed in qualification.

“You have to perform on the big stage and we just haven’t done that. We’ve all gained finals experience here and experience like that can only help us.

“I’m disappointed not to have scored in the tournament because we have created chances. We probably could have been a bit more clinical and a bit more cute in the final third, but it hasn’t gone our way.”

More to come: Nacer Chadli is looking to build on his encouraging campaign

Skolars are beaten by basement side

THE London Skolars endured a hugely disappointing day on Sunday as they crashed to a 26-20 defeat at home to basement side South Wales Scorpions in rugby league’s Kingstone Press Championship One.

The Scorpions came into the match having lost every league game they had played this season, while the previous meeting between the sides had given the Skolars their only win of the campaign to date.

The hosts made the brighter start and took the lead on just four minutes when Aaron Small barged his way over the line for a try which Marcus Elliot was unable to convert.

However, the Scorpions hit back within five minutes as Yannick Parker collected Paul Emanuelli’s kick and touched down in the corner to level the scores.

The Skolars were generally enjoying the better of the play and James Anthony restored their advantage on 21 minutes by scoring a try which Mike Bishay converted.

Again the visitors hit back and they got back on level terms when Dafydd Hellard forced his way over for a try which was converted by Emanuelli – only for Chris Bishay to score on the stroke of the interval to put the Skolars 14-10 ahead.

There was no change to the scoreline until the 62nd minute when the Scorpions took the lead for the first time as Parker again touched down in the corner, with Emanuelli managing to add the difficult conversion on this occasion.

The hosts were not behind for long though as player-coach Jermaine Coleman pounced on an error to cross the line under the posts and leave Bishay with a simple conversion.

But the Skolars were unable to hold on to their advantage and they fell behind again with nine minutes left as Tala Petelo latched on to a grubber kick and touched down for a converted try.

The visitors struck again five minutes later as Ian Newbury went over in the corner, and although the conversion was missed, it made no difference to the final outcome as the Skolars crashed to a ninth successive defeat.

The Skolars entertain Hemel Stags on Sunday.

Highgate move further clear at the top

A CRUSHING seven-wicket victory at home to MTSSC on Saturday saw Highgate extend their lead at the top of Division Three of the Middlesex County Cricket League to an imposing 18 points.

Edward Foster (4-29) made the early inroads as the visitors struggled after deciding to bat first – slumping to 72-7 before Abdul Hamza led a lower-order recovery which saw the last three wickets add 82 to take them up to a final total of 154.

Christopher Arul (51) got Highgate’s reply off to a fine start, and good contributions from Callum Fraser (27), Hashen Ramanayake (24 not out) and Nicholas Brunner (23 not out) enabled them to ease to 155-3.

However, North London

remain adrift at the foot of the table after being crushed by 184 runs at Harrow Town.

Asim Mohammed (63) and Chulaka Mahanama (52 not out) led the way as Harrow Town posted a total of 232 and North London could only make a paltry 48 in reply – with Parth Goradia taking 7-18.

Meanwhile, North Middlesex’s disappointing run of form in the top flight continued as they lost by 54 runs at home to Richmond.

Having begun the season in fine style, North Middlesex have dropped down the table in recent weeks and an excellent innings of 111 from Andrew Lowe put them under pressure in this match.

Jack Porter chipped in with 42 as Richmond amassed exactly 250, with Sam Webber (4-51) proving to be the pick of the bowlers.

James Cracknell made 42 in the hosts’ reply, but he received little support as they were dismissed for 196.

Elsewhere, Hornsey secured a winning draw from their home match against table-topping Eastcote in Division Two.

The hosts were able to make 181 despite fine bowling from James Corbett (5-54) and Matt Savage (4-48) and the outcome remained in doubt right through to a thrilling climax which saw Eastcote end on 169-8.

North Middlesex visit Indian Gymkhana on Saturday, while Hornsey visit Enfield, Highgate go to Barnes and North London entertain Kenton.
